PASS LODGE RESERVATION

Several Democrats Who Voted Against Lodge Reservation Are Expected To Stand For Ratification
Of The Treaty

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Republican leaders in the senate today decided to ask for an agreement to vote on treaty ratification Thursday. They also decided to call up the Knox resolution declaring peace if the treaty fails. They have more than enough votes to pass it, they said today.

There is a possibility, it was learned, that if the treaty is rejected some democratic senators may move reconsideration and may then vote to ratify.

Some democrats, who want to ratify, feel they must stand by president Wilson as long as it is possible. But they say if they voted against ratification with the Lodge reservation and the treaty failed they would then feel they had fulfilled their party obligation and vote to ratify.

The senate today resumed discussion of Senator Owen's reservation on Egypt.

Washington, D. C.—Following adoption of the Lodge reservation to article X, administration senators today expressed belief that even if the senate should now ratify, President Wilson would refuse to deposit notice of ratification and the treaty would fail.

The president has definitely rejected the reservation which 56 senators, including 11 democrats, voted into the resolution of ratification.

The question now uppermost in the minds of senators is how many democrats will bolt the president's leadership in the final vote and accept the Lodge reservations as a means of getting rid of the treaty.

Twenty-six democrats voted against the Lodge reservation on article X. Of these, it was estimated today, from four to seven will vote for ratification. Among them will be Senators Simmons, King, Kirby and Chamberlain.

According to democrats leading a movement to disregard the president's wishes and ratify the treaty with the reservations to which he objects.

Various estimates were made of the number of republican votes for ratification. Curtis, republican whip, said careful canvasses indicated to him that the treaty would lack from three to eight votes of enough to ratify.

Borah, leader of the irreconcilables, estimated that there would be 38 votes against ratification, five more than necessary to beat the treaty.

Lodge feels certain, he has told his friends, that the treaty will fail. Hisecock is equally certain, he said today.

King, who with Simmons is working to get the treaty ratified whether the president will accept it or not, said there would be 32 democratic votes for ratification. This, with 34 republican votes, would give two more than necessary for ratification. But King's figures were discounted by every one in the canvass.

Some senators are not telling how they vote. This silent vote, which is being counted by various canvassers, may upset some calculations at the last minute. Nobody can tell with precision what the vote will be until it has been taken, senators agreed, after looking over the various forecasts.

Lodge and other leaders hope to reach the final vote on Thursday or Friday. No attempt has been made yet to set the time but this may be done today.

Hiram Johnson, one of the "irreconcilables," is hurrying back for the vote. Penrose has wired a request that he be paired against ratification. LaFollette and Poinsett are back and Senator Fall, New Mexico, has been paired.

The senate today took an odds and ends of resolutions, hoping to get them all disposed of by night and perhaps get the resolution of ratification drawn up by voting upon the form of the preamble or resolving clause.

Chicago.—Further revelations of the intimacies of Mrs. Ruth Randall and Cliff Bleyer, found together, dead, in Mrs. Randall's apartments here a week ago, were expected today when the coroner's inquest into the tragedy was resumed.

Mrs. Bleyer, wife of the man Ruth Randall is believed to have murdered, was expected to be a witness at today's hearing. Colonel Charles E. Bleyer, father of the victim who arrived here from Cuba yesterday also may ratify.

Arrangements for Bleyer's funeral probably will be made tomorrow.

Washington.—President Wilson, Prime Minister Lloyd George and other civilian leaders of the nations fighting Germany, allowed themselves to be drawn into "fascinating speculation" about some means of quickly ending the war by a spectacular master stroke, while the Germans continued submerging Allied shipping, Rear Admiral Williams S. Sims charged today in the senate's investigation of the war.

Sims continued reading to the naval affairs sub-committee his long statement by means of which he seeks to prove that the war was prolonged by inefficiency in Secretary Daniels' department.

Elaborating on his intimation yesterday that the navy would have been caught unprepared had German raiders made a dash for American troop ships, Sims declared the navy went for months without a sound plan of action in case of such an attempt and depended on covering up its own unpreparedness and lack of fighting ships by calling on the British grand fleet and Japanese battle cruisers.

Japan never answered the request for battle cruisers to be attached to the American fleet, Admiral Sims declared, and the British admiralty declined to cooperate fully, forcing the navy department to abandon its plans and accept in part recommendations of Sims which were for battleships escort for convoys.

"It is an impressive example of the deplorable absence of unity of command," Sims observed.

"It was attempting the impossible even to attempt preparation and execution of complicated plans with members of the team separated by over three thousand miles of ocean and discussions carried on over a heavily overworked cable.

"Fortunately the enemy never attempted a battle cruiser raid."

Sims denied he opposed the North Sea mine barrage and praised it as "one of the wonders of the war."

One of the most impractical schemes suggested during the war, he said, was to sink 33 obsolete war vessels filled with concrete to block Heligoland Bight.

KAPP IS READY TO

NEW GERMAN REGIMEREVOLUTION LEADER WILLING TO STEP OUT IN ORDER TO NEGOTIATE WITH EBERT

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp, leader of the new German revolution, has offered to resign as chancellor, thus opening the way to negotiations with the Ebert government, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

General Maercker, representing the Kapp government, was reported to be enroute in an airplane to Stuttgart, provisional capital of the Ebert administration, bearing proposals for a compromise. It was believed he also carried Kapps offer to resign. Kapp himself was said to have announced Maercker's departure.

The foreign office stated today that the British embassy in Berlin had substantially confirmed reports of an agreement between Kapp and Ebert. The foreign office explained that the embassy's apparent confirmation of such an agreement was based on a report published by the Allgemeine Zeitung.

A News Agency dispatch from Paris said the German charge d'affaires there also had received confirmation of the reported agreement.

An official communication which the Ebert cabinet issued in Stuttgart yesterday was relayed here today by the Berlin correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company. It stated that the Kapp group is seeking to make the people believe that the constitutional government has entered negotiations with Kapp through General Maercker. The communication said this was not true; that no negotiations would be undertaken as they would only result in distrust and confusion and would prolong the present disorders. The statement concluded with the declaration that von Kapp must resign unconditionally.

Early Reports That Von Kapp Will

That Concessions Have

By United Press Leased Wire
The Ebert cabinet, meeting at Stuttgart today, decided to cease all communication with the revolutionary party in Berlin.

This action was taken by the cabinet unanimously at a time when General Maercker was reported on his way to Stuttgart from Berlin with the compromise proposals offered by the von Kapp group. This was believed to indicate that the Ebert government has rejected all ideas of compromise at this time.

This view was emphasized by the fact that the Ebert cabinet also decided to punish with "maximum severity" all persons implicated in the revolution.

Meantime Berlin dispatches indicated growing opposition to the revolution in the capital. Violent fighting has taken place in Berlin. Fifteen persons have been killed and many wounded.

Both the nationalist and popular parties were reported to have repudiated von Kapp.

The fact that the revolutionists' compromise terms were reported to include a demand for amnesty was taken to mean the von Kapp group realizes that its period of control may be short lived.

Fighting in Berlin occurred after a bomb had been thrown at the headquarters of General von Luttwitz, defense minister for the revolutionists. Soldiers' "machine guns on the crowds."

Here, Mayor, the German charge d'affaires in Paris, informed Premier Millerand officially today that no compromise has been reached between the revolutionists and the Ebert government, which now has its headquarters at Stuttgart.

The deposed German government, headed by President Ebert, has forced Dr. Wolfgang Kapp, chancellor of the counter-revolutionary administration to offer his resignation, according to unofficial dispatches today.

The defiance of the Ebert cabinet, issued from its provisional capital in Stuttgart, closed the door to any chance of a compromise agreement and declared that Kapp must resign unconditionally. Latest advices this afternoon indicated Kapp had tendered his resignation, apparently with the idea that this action would open the way for negotiations between his followers and the Ebert government.

At the same time it was said Kapp's military leaders have decided to continue their opposition, regardless of his proposed resignation and would fight to the end. Reports were received that bloody fighting was still under way in Berlin and its environs.

(By Henry Wood)
Paris.—The situation in Germany today still was obscure.

A Berlin dispatch declaring that a compromise agreement had been reached between President Ebert and revolutionists in control of the capital was contradicted by a Zurich dispatch which asserted that Ebert has repudiated the Berlin negotiations and denied the announcement of a compromise.

The French foreign office, however, was inclined to believe that events will bear out the announcement of the compromise, believing that the von Kapp group realizes it cannot obtain the support of a majority of the people.

The Zurich dispatch says that a meeting of the Ebert cabinet was held at Stuttgart yesterday. The president and vice president of the national assembly and the Wuertemberg ministers attended. After the meeting President Ebert gave out a statement officially denying the Berlin compromise report. He declared that the negotiations of Herren Maercker and Groener, who professed to represent the Ebert government in Berlin negotiations, were not authorized and announced that the only solution acceptable would be the resignation of von Kapp and evacuation of Berlin.

Berlin dispatches report the compromise was received here late yesterday. The arrangement, it was asserted, provided that Ebert should continue as president, but should form

CUT $300,000,000 FROM
NAVY DEPARTMENT BILL

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Ignoring the declaration of Secretary Daniels that a larger navy is needed because of delay to the peace treaty in the senate, the house naval affairs committee today reported the 1920-21 appropriation bill after reducing the estimate submitted by the department nearly $300,000,000. The total carried in the bill $424,450,000, or $200,000,000 less than last year.

Berlin.—The general strike, called in protest against the revolutionary government, grew today.

The American colony in the Hotel Adlon was able to obtain food only with the greatest difficulty. Waiters, cooks and hotel workers walked out leaving the hotel management practically helpless.

Railway workers also joined the strike but a few trains were running. Telephone service was interrupted.

Despite the general cessation of work, the city generally remained quiet. The people apparently were waiting passively to "see what will happen."

Reports on the situation throughout the empire up to this time are conflicting.

A Hamburg dispatch said the reichswehr there has gone against the government.

Reports that the new regime is negotiating with the Ebert group were confirmed early today. The plan, it was said, is to form a coalition government. British sources here denied that British Lincoln, formerly a British citizen, has started negotiations with British generals.

The Allied commissioners here generally were uncommunicative, adopting a policy of "watchful waiting." They will have no relations with the revolutionists until the status of the new regime has been more clearly defined.

It was stated officially last night that the revolutionary government has received advices indicating that Great Britain is favorable to the new regime. This statement was received with doubt in Allied circles here.

The revolutionary government also claimed the military situation throughout the empire is favorable "except in a few localities." The revolutionists said that the general strike situation "is much better than has been painted." They declared that the desperate attempts of the old government to regain power had not shown results up to this time.

Many Casualties
Berlin.—Clashes between revolutionists and workers occurred in various quarters of Berlin, especially in Schoenberg and Wilmsdorf. Fifteen have been killed and many wounded.

Strife in Stuttgart
Paris.—The workers federation in Stuttgart has demanded a soviet dictatorship and will submit the plan to a vote of the workers today, a Berlin dispatch asserts.

Serious disorders have occurred in large cities throughout Saxony, the dispatch says. Street fighting was reported in Dresden.

Fighting in Berlin
Berlin.—Severe fighting occurred in Berlin and the suburbs Monday, as the result of clashes between citizens and revolutionary soldiers. A number of persons were killed and many wounded when soldiers turned machine guns on the crowds after a bomb had been thrown at General von Luttwitz's headquarters on Potsdam Square. Later a mob attacked 60 soldiers in the suburbs with casualties on both sides.

Four persons were killed and eight wounded in Charlottenburg, a number killed in Schoenberg, and three killed and 15 wounded in Steglitz. Chancellor Kapp has threatened the leaders of the general strike with death.

Says

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—A bill proposing that the United States extend a credit of $1,000,000,000 to Germany was introduced in the house today by Rep. Thomas B. Smith, Democrat, New York.

Export business of the United States had dropped 70 per cent in the last three months, Smith said, in declaring it was to the interest of this country to develop trade with Germany.

Smith proposed the credit be extended by the war finance corporation and pointed out it could be secured by German property in this country, now held by the alien property custodian. The guarantees, however, would be approved by the reparations commission of the peace conference under the Smith bill.

The result of the plan would be that Germany by means of the credit could buy food and raw materials in this country, he said. Smith said this credit is extended only in connection with particular commercial transactions.

"Germany is in vital and immediate need of cotton, wheat, condensed milk, cattle feed, packing house products, miltch cows, horses, cattle and minerals. She needs a billion dollars worth of them. It is, on the other hand, vital to the United States to maintain an export market for these articles. Unless the farmer and producer are assured of an outlet for surplus production in this country is bound to decrease with the result that prices will be further enhanced.

"In view of the fall in English and French exchange both of these countries would naturally take as much raw material as possible from their colonies and from Germany. On the other hand, if they are permitted to finance Germany, as contemplated by the economic council, the United States will be practically excluded from the German trade.

St. Paul.—On the face of returns from larger cities of the state, Major General Leonard Wood is the choice of republicans for president. United States Senator Hiram Johnson was next in preference and Herbert Hoover third, apparently. Governor Frank O. Lowden evidently was fourth choice and Senator Miles Poinsett was hardly noticed. Poinsett made no campaign here.

In the twin cities many of the polling places had no ballots other than Wood ballots. Names of other candidates were either placed over Wood ballots with stickers, or written on pieces of scrap paper and placed in the ballot boxes. Gustav Lindquist, chairman of the republican state central committee, whose duty it is to execute the presidential preference primary, is campaign manager for Wood in Minnesota.

The precinct caucuses last night named delegates to county conventions which will be held Wednesday. District conventions will follow Friday and the state republican convention Saturday will name delegates to the republican national convention.

Dakota Votes Today
Bismarck, N. D.—Interest in the North Dakota presidential primary today centered in the naming of delegates to the national conventions. Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, and William Jennings Bryan, democrat, were the only presidential candidates on the official ballots. There are two republicans and two democratic sales slates for national committeemen, national congress delegates and presidential electors. One of the republican tickets is endorsed by the national non-partisan league.

Johnson Gets Majority
Red Wing, Minn.—Red Wing voted a majority for Hiram Johnson in the republican primaries yesterday. Fourteen out of 38 precincts in Goodhue County gave Frank O. Lowden a majority.

Fourteen Goodhue precincts returned: Lowden 128; Wood 120; Johnson 109; Hoover 18 and Poinsett 4. Red Wing's eight precincts gave Johnson 87; Wood 65; Lowden 22; Hoover 11 and Poinsett 1.

Representative Kahn Wants Baker to Tell Congress the Exact Status of American Soldiers on German Soil

(By Herbert W. Walker)
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Congress may take steps to determine whether the 15,000 United States troops now in Germany are to be used against the revolutionists, in the event that Allied leaders order such action.

Chairman Kahn of the house military affairs committee, today is preparing a resolution calling on Secretary Baker to inform congress "of the exact status" of American soldiers on German soil.

Under the state of war existing between the United States and Germany, the president can use the troops as he sees fit, but some congressional leaders, it is understood, want it made plain that no such action should be taken by the president until congress has passed an authorization resolution.

Because of reports of fighting in Germany between opposing factions certain house leaders believe Kahn's resolution should be rushed through and congress should prepare to act should the situation involve the other powers.

Many members of congress declare American troops should be sent into action only in case a renewal of the world war is threatened. They urge quick clarification of the status of the Americans in Germany.

The forces of the other powers are there to see that the terms of the treaty are carried out, but the Americans are there only to see that the terms of the armistice are not violated. If the Germans refused to carry out the peace terms the French and British troops might act, but the Americans should not participate, it is contended, because this country has not ratified the treaty.

The association's membership consists of 100 universities and colleges, 200 normal schools, and 3,000 high schools. Its area includes that territory between Ohio and Colorado, and from the Canadian border to as far south as Kentucky and Missouri.

Principal P. G. W. Keller of the high school left today for Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

STORMS INTERFERE WITH WOOD'S SPEAKING TOUR

By United Press Leased Wire
Aberdeen, S. D.—Leonard Wood, candidate for the republican nomination for president, became stranded in a raging snowstorm in the eastern part of South Dakota yesterday and was compelled to cancel one speaking engagement. The general is to speak in Aberdeen tonight and at Huron tomorrow.

Wood made his first address in South Dakota at Clear Lake yesterday morning and was scheduled to go to Watertown from there. It was found train connections would be impossible until afternoon so Wood and his party were persuaded to make the trip on a motor propelled band car. A heavy wind was blowing driving snow with it when the party boarded the little car. A few miles out of Clear Lake the storm hit them and it was necessary to return to Clear Lake. They left late in the afternoon for Watertown where Wood spoke.

C. C. Nelson returned Monday from a trip of several days to Shawano and other points on business in connection with the Wisconsin and Northern railway.

Passenger service on the Northern Wisconsin division of the Northwestern road was completely paralyzed by the wreck near Oshkosh. No trains reached Appleton from the south until shortly before noon today. Appleton business men were without mail from the south and the early editions of the metropolitan papers did not arrive until late in the forenoon. Only one or two trains came from the north and they were unable to proceed farther than Oshkosh.

Train No. 116, which met with disaster, is a regularly scheduled Ashland division train due at Appleton Junction at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The train is switched to the Wisconsin division at that point. There were several Appleton people on the train but so far as is known no local people were injured.

Phil S. Dickinson was riding in one of the coaches that overturned. Water started coming into the coach as soon as it struck the ground, causing the passengers to believe that the train had plunged into a river. Many of them became desperate and in their efforts to climb through the windows injured, according to Mr. Dickinson, who telephoned from Oshkosh that he was uninjured.

According to information received here the wreck was due to a washout. Gravel was washed from underneath the rails for a distance of more than 100 feet.

Traffic on the Ashland division of the Northwestern road is continuing without interruption. It was said this morning. Reports that the track near Appleton is covered with water lacked confirmation. According to the best available information flood conditions are not serious enough to cause apprehension.

It is believed here that the high wind which came up during the night prevented what might have become a rather serious situation here. The warm weather of the last few days melted the snow so rapidly that the waters could not carry off the result of water and several instances of cars were flooded when the water reached up. Flood conditions prevailed in the lower fifth ward and in the Fourth ward. Water rushed down Calumet street in the Fourth ward in Oshkosh, Wis.—Twenty-five persons were injured more or less seriously when train number 116 of the Northwestern road was derailed between here and Fond du Lac. Of four cars which left the track, one fell on its side and was submerged in the waters of a creek badly swollen by heavy rains.

Of the injuries but 14 were hospital cases; one of the most seriously injured was Reid Murray, head of the farm department of the Old Commercial bank who had five ribs broken.

Train service between Fond du Lac and Oshkosh was carried on over the Soo Line tracks during the early evening hours, but Train 101 blocked the transfer at Neenah when its engine ran off the track shortly before midnight.

In trying to get back on its own right of way at Neenah early this morning, the northbound Chicago and Northwestern train usually due here at 11:20 o'clock at night suffered a mishap which made last night's traffic tieup worse.

Because of the wreck of another train between Oshkosh and Fond du Lac as related elsewhere in today's paper, this train was held up at Fond du Lac for several hours. Arrangements were finally made to continue the journey as far as Neenah over the Soo line tracks. This was accomplished with numerous waits reaching Neenah about 5:30 o'clock this morning.

While switching over from the Soo tracks to the Northwestern at this point, the engine left the track, tearing up a portion of the right of way. The cars remained on the track, however, and outside of a shaking up, none of the passengers was injured.

Several Appleton passengers spent a weary night aboard the long delayed train and when they found out the predicament they were in at Neenah finished their journey by interurban.

For the first time in an Appleton ring, Schober will face an opponent to whom he does not concede a weight advantage. Matsuda tips the scales at about 160 pounds, with Billy about two pounds heavier.

Youn' Kettenhoven, Appleton and Kid Kronski of Beaver Dam, clash in the semi-windup. A fifteen minute match between two boys will open the show at 8:20 o'clock.

W. L. Rhodes, Green Bay, will be the third man in the ring tonight. George Gloumdemans will keep time.

HAVE ARRANGED SPLENDID PROGRAM FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Final preparations have been made for the big St. Patrick day rally to-morrow evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel. It is not an exclusive Irish affair, according to the committee in charge, but is for the general public. No admission will be charged. The speaker is James L. O'Connor of Milwaukee, ex-attorney general, who will present the Irish question. His subject is, "Is Ireland Entitled to Self Determination?" The speaker is a forceful orator, well versed in his subject.

Irish music will spice the occasion and help to make it appropriate to the patron saint's day. Prof. Carl J. Waterman and Prof. Carl H. Bul-

Appleton, Wis., March 13, 1920.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

I take this opportunity of thanking you for nominating me as a candidate for the office of DELEGATE from the NINTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN to the National Convention of the Republican Party, to be voted for at the election to be held on the first Tuesday in April, 1920, and I desire to reiterate my declaration of February 25th, that I will support Leonard Wood the ORGANIZER, the ADMINISTRATOR, the PATRIOT, the STATESMAN, the SOLDIER and last but not least, the AMERICAN, as the Presidential Nominee at the Republican Party.

If elected as DELEGATE, I will endeavor to do everything within my power to make Leonard Wood the Presidential Nominee of the Republican Party and will not waver in my support unless circumstances prevent the nomination of Leonard Wood, when I reserve the privilege of supporting the next best candidate.

Under the primary election laws of the State of Wisconsin every citizen has a right to aspire to any public office within the gift of the Commonwealth upon his furnishing satisfactory evidence that the required number of qualified electors have endorsed his candidacy.

I want your support because I have come out openly and given you to understand that I will support Leonard Wood as my first choice; my second and third choice is as open as the un-instructed delegates. first and second choice will be and you are less likely to be disappointed in giving me your support, you know where I stand and even though I may not represent your ideal in my first choice, I want all the electors in the Ninth Congressional District to know that I will play the game absolutely square. I am making every effort to ascertain how the District feels beyond Wood my first choice, and if you really desire to exercise your right of suffrage and be content with the majority rule, I will be only too glad to receive from you a statement as to your first, second and third choice. It will only take a few minutes of your time and the price of a two cent stamp to send this information to me and I assure you that upon receipt of your selection I will immediately tally and canvass your choice. I sincerely hope that I may have your cooperation and suggestions in this important matter and shall be pleased to receive such letters up to the date of my departure to the Convention, provided of course that you see fit to elect me to the office of Delegate, and I assure you that I will be guided by the decision of the majority of the electors. I want to make myself clear however, that Leonard Wood is my first choice and your writing me will have to do only in determining my second and subsequent choice.

This appeal is not only to the WOOD men in the Ninth District but to every elector who wants to exercise his right of making a selection without delegating that power to an un-instructed Delegate who is in no better position to respect your first and second choice than I am even though you know that I will support WOOD until such time that his nomination fails.

Assuring you that I duly appreciate the support that you have given me thus far in nominating me and trusting that you will all exercise your right of suffrage on Tuesday, April 6th in order that a full expression of the electors can be had and pledging myself to the task of serving my constituents to the end that the majority expression shall rule, I beg to remain

Yours for Wood for President,

APPLETON PEOPLE ARE TAKING BETTER CARE OF THEIR TEETH

DENTISTS AND DRUGGISTS ASSESS THAT TEETH CLEANLINESS IS BECOMING A PASSION

"People are paying more attention to their teeth than ever before," an Appleton dentist stated yesterday. Not only that, he explained, people are not waiting for their teeth to give them trouble, but are taking the precaution of examinations before any weaknesses of the molars are apparent. "This increased attention to teeth is due to two reasons," the dentist declared. "Primarily because people are beginning to realize through the influence of the medical and teaching professions that the health of the body depends greatly on the health of the mouth, and second because people are paying greater attention to personal hygiene."

"The tooth-brush drills instituted in the schools are training the children in proper care of the teeth. Men who served in the army have also gained a greater appreciation of the value of good teeth."

To demonstrate the statement that bodily health is dependent greatly upon the health of the mouth, the dentist told of two patients who had been sent to him only that day by doctors, with the advice that their teeth be put in order. One man was suffering primarily from stomach trouble and the other was afflicted with rheumatism. He told of another case wherein a rheumatism patient was cured by proper dental treatment.

A similar opinion was expressed by Dr. R. R. Lally. "Greater attention to teeth is being paid by the people, especially by the boys who have been in the service. Service men were given dental treatment when necessary and they have continued to take proper care of the teeth since being discharged."

People generally are also recognizing the value of good teeth and are taking steps to keep them in the proper condition. Dentistry has progressed greatly in the last five years, especially in the use of the x-ray, and this has helped to bring the matter before the public. And then, with all the above, we find there is a shortage of tooth-brushes. You can get all the tooth paste you want, but put it on with your fingers.

"Tooth-brushes are exceedingly hard to get," said Harvey Schlitz of Schlitz Bros. drug store. "Tooth-paste in plenty can be secured, but tooth-brushes are scarce."

"There is a shortage," said D. W. Evans of the Union Pharmacy. "although we have enough on hand, I believe that we have sold more tooth-brushes in the last six months than ever before. The school children and ex-service men especially are paying more attention to their teeth."

LIVERY BARN IS TO BE USED AS STORAGE ROOM
Storage room in Appleton which has been about as hard to get as a residence will be relieved by the C. F. CONCERT LAST NIGHT WAS BEST OF SEASON

PROGRAM WAS OF A HIGHER CLASS THAN ANY THUS FAR—AUDIENCE IS APPRECIATIVE

Last night's concert was undoubtedly the best presented thus far this year by the Ninth Regiment band. An audience which filled Lawrence Memorial chapel greeted the players with vigorous applause and the band, in turn, responded freely with encore.

Carleton Bullis in his numbers on the organ proved himself a thorough musician. "The Funeral March of the Marionette" was a masterful rendition.

The material chosen for the program was of good variety and of a higher class than had been used in the past, indicating that the work of the band is improving with every concert and that its efforts are appreciated by Appleton people who are attending the programs in ever increasing numbers.

M. J. Heynen and Herbert Smith pleased mightily in their duet and especially in their work in the Pleyel Rondino which was presented as an encore.

The big numbers of the evening were splendid renditions of the William Tell overture and the Tann-HAUSER SELECTION. "The Army Chaplain" also was interesting with its bright, catchy and cheery music. A large number of people from other cities attended the concert. The audience included music lovers from Green Bay, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh. The entire Kimberly band attended.

That it is possible to remedy the condition of the country roads even at this late date is shown by the accomplishments of Fred Wagner and a crew of farmers yesterday on one of the bad stretches near the town of Center. Wagner had been successful in removing the snow from his own locality and was called upon by the others to assist them.

Using two strong teams and an ordinary plow, a furrow was plowed through the center of the roadway, the horses treading in the hard sleigh track. The plow was thrust in way to the beam, breaking up the hard snow crust. A crew with a large snow plow and four teams followed. Gaining hold in the path made by the first plow, the latter outfit was able to thrust the snow-out of the highway, leaving a track, of 21 feet wide in which travel was made easy.

In other sections of the country, farmers got out with ordinary plows and broke up the highway, expecting that the thaw would quickly melt the snow thus exposed. Toward night a freeze-up came, and now these roads are a mass of chunks from three to five feet high.

Some of the rural mail carriers are delivering to practically all of their patrons, while others cannot get into some sections at all.

MAN HURT IN COLLISION WITH AUTOMOBILE TRUCK

Reitzner was coming from Appleton Junction on a motor velocipede and reached the corner just as the truck turned west on Lawrence street from Locust street. He jumped to save himself. The velocipede was badly damaged.

ANOTHER BUSINESS PLACE ON COLLEGE AVENUE FIGURES IN REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION.

The Meyer-Seeger Music company, which is located immediately west of the First National bank building, yesterday purchased from Henry Schuetter the building at 816 College avenue, occupied by L. E. Sugarman's clothing store. The consideration was not announced.

In confirming the sale this morning Mr. Seeger said that the tenants of the building would not be disturbed until his company was required to vacate its present building, which was recently purchased by the First Trust company. The purchase was made as a matter of protection.

DAMAGED PARCELS SHOULD BE TAKEN TO POSTOFFICE

The procedure to recover loss due to damaged insured mail is not clear to many people, according to Gustave Keller, postmaster. This has been demonstrated in recent instances where insured parcel post packages were received in bad condition.

When a package arrives with the contents damaged and the markings show that it is insured, the person receiving it should bring the package to the postoffice at once, with the wrapper and all. The department can then determine whether the packing was poorly done, and the exact extent of the damage.

Mr. Keller said that if this rule is followed much of the difficulty incident to adjusting losses will be eliminated.

Mrs. John Selig, 885 Harriman street, who recently submitted to an operation, is recovering slowly and probably will be able to leave the hospital for her home on Saturday.

CHANGING THE CONSTITUTION.

Rep. Johnson of New York proposes an amendment to the federal constitution providing that the question of the ratification of all future amendments to the constitution shall be submitted to popular vote in the various states. It is a proposition which is likely to be widely supported in the future if not at the present time. Probably it is brought forward because of the contention that the prohibition amendment does not represent the major opinion of the people. Whether this is so or not, the suggestion of popular ratification of future amendments has some arguments in its favor. A referendum by the country at large would of course be objected to as a departure from the constitution and the original idea of state sovereignty or free action by the states through their legislatures, but a referendum within the lines of each state would not destroy the theory of state ratification, the method of registering the state's decision only being changed. It would, moreover, constitute no further departure from the original scheme of government than does the popular election of United States senators, which previously was a function of legislatures based on the principle of the state as a political unit.

The popular referendum, as it has been urged of late years and actually attempted in a few states, is manifestly impracticable and undesirable in matters of ordinary legislation. The people have not the time and too many of them not the required intelligence to enact laws at the polling places. Representative government is all right in this sphere and undoubtedly will stand the test of time. No other plan has been devised which is more feasible and none is likely to be. But it is practicable and altogether desirable that the people themselves occasionally speak their minds and register their wills on some great question at the polls, in order that the real sentiment of the majority may be revealed for the guidance of legislatures and the congress, and also to determine fundamental changes of policy. Direct voting in each state on the question of ratifying a constitutional amendment is supported by the arguments advanced in favor of electing senators by popular vote. Ratification should of course be made contingent on a two-thirds vote by states, and not by a majority. Changes in the organic law of the country are made only after great deliberation, and that is well. It is probable that the proposition to ratify amendments to the constitution by popular vote within the states will be received with caution, and that it will require a long time for it to make headway, but ultimately it is not unreasonable to expect that it will become an issue and that it will be submitted for determination through the present constitutional process.

STILL UNSPEAKABLE.

Turkish officials are manifestly eager for America's friendship. Perhaps they hope for a loan, or possibly they think we are less inclined to be hard on the Turk than Europeans because we did not declare war on them when the allies did. When the recent massacre at Marash occurred they assured us that all Americans there were perfectly safe, "even their poultry" being respected, and that in consequence they were "drinking their chocolate and enjoying themselves," while the streets were running with Armenian blood and foreigners (except Americans) were in danger. If the American government doubted, let an investigation be made.

Meanwhile the true situation has been revealed in the diary of Rev. C. T. S. Crathern of Boston, just published. From this it appears that such safety as the Americans (and their chickens) in Marash enjoyed was due to French troops and such Armenians as were able to secure arms; that the American hospital was bombarded, the American flag being fired upon; that an American orphanage was burned and eighty-five Armenian girls whom it sheltered after they fled from Turkish harems massacred. Instead of carelessly enjoying themselves the Americans were nursing the sick and wounded, finding room for desperate refugees and giving shelter to remnants of slaughtered families. The orgy of blood at Marash shows that even heavy misfortune cannot change the unspeakable Turk. He is the same as of old, and if the results of the world war do not clean him up and strike from him the power to massacre helpless women and children by the thousand it will have failed in one of its vital responsibilities.

NO VITAL UPHEAVAL LIKELY.

The "revolution" in Germany continues to hold the attention of the world. That it is distinctly a reactionary move there seems to be no doubt. Reports indicate that the people are not friendly to the coup, and that it can be maintained only at the cost of severe civil strife. A report from Holland that the former kaiser is greatly agitated by the change may carry significance. That William Hohenzollern has hopes of being restored to power in Germany is a natural inference, and undoubtedly the nervous strain under which he is laboring reflects that desire. It may be taken for granted the ex-emperor's theories of government have not changed, and that he still holds his right to the throne as of divine origin.

If, however, he has visions of a return to Germany as its ruler he is chasing a will-o'-the-wisp. That is not his destiny. Germany may have whatever form of government it desires, barring only a return to autocracy. That the allies will not permit, and they are in a position to intervene most effectively to prevent it. Germany has no military power. She has man-power to be sure, but nothing with which to give it potency. She is in a straight-jacket pending fulfillment of the treaty terms, or such progress toward them as will guarantee their execution in good faith. The allies will not relinquish their control until Germany is well on the road to rehabilitation in the channels that insure protection to her former antagonists.

The outcome of the Kapp stroke will be civil war or the preservation of representative government, and there is little question that if the latter survives the revolutionary leaders will be ousted. The German people, particularly the working population, are opposed to the overthrow of the Ebert government, and they hold the whip hand at this time. They are calling strikes in support of the democracy and in protest against the revolution. Germany depends absolutely upon the workmen for production that is vital to her existence and progress, and while the laboring class could not long sustain the deprivation of nonemployment, their acquiescence probably is essential to any political regime which is to stand up.

There are naturally attempts to set up the soviet system and to obtain encouragement from Russia, but they are not likely to lead to substantial success. Germany was more exposed to this menace at the beginning of the problem of working out her new destiny than she is now. The substantial population, including the agriculturists, will be firmly opposed to bolshevism, and labor, even though socialistic, is too well experienced to be misled by phantoms. The indications are that there will not be a change either of deep reaction or of deep radicalism. More probably the system of representative government set up will stand the strain. A new administration may be evolved, but that is as far as the tendencies now manifesting themselves may be expected to go. Anything further would almost certainly engage the country in civil war.

THE INVALUABLE SIGN
 I heard the robin's luring note
 Ecstatic from his throbbing throat
 I saw him, like a flying flower,
 Or glint of sunshine in the shower.
 My heart leaped to hear him sing:
 Said I "The poor simp thinks it's spring."
 I saw two lovers' trollying by,
 Palm pressing palm, eye searching eye.
 A waft of Tennysonian song
 Perfumed the path they passed along.
 I caught the glint of a ring
 And said, "Poor boob! They think it's spring."
 I saw a farmer break the husk
 Of Mother Earth from dawn to dusk.
 Behind his patient plow he bent
 As back and forth all day he went
 And gloried in his task. "Poor thing!"
 I said, "He really thinks it's spring."
 An out-door sound: a sound I love!
 A sphere colliding with a glove!
 The bat-thwack of a ball hit fair!
 A chorus shredding all the air!
 An umpire in a clamorous ring!
 "Ah, now," I said, "This—is it spring!"

Spence Tries to Explain Our Idea of Spiritualism by Hypnotism.

"What about Chrys' long sleep at the hacienda? What was it?"
 Our discussion anent the startling revival of spiritualism in the United States had left each of us about where he or she started. Chrys was for the doctrine. She is a mystic by temperament. Spence was violently opposed to it and was planning to come out publicly and join the forces which were fighting it. Bob had an intense interest in both sides as providing absorbing reading matter for a man of books; Jim ridiculed it and had a grand time in so doing; and I was confused by my own queer experience even after I had heard Spence's positive statements concerning them.

I didn't wish to have the discussion close without getting an answer to my question concerning Chrys' mysterious somnambulism. She had slept for days and it had been deemed unsafe to awaken her. It was her condition which had kept us so long in Mexico; indirectly all our recent woes were due to that delay.

All of us looked to Jordan Spence for an opinion since he was a physician of renown.
 "Miss Lorimer was hypnotized, I conclude from the evidence you have each handed me from time to time. The venerable Camilla was probably one of the grandest hypnotists of this or any other time. It's a pity the old woman is dead. I would like to study her methods," he added.

"She was sure some expert," put in my husband. "At one time she had most of the Lorimer tribe under her control."

I flushed guiltily although it wasn't clear why I should feel like a criminal because the old woman had hypnotized me. I flushed just because Bob had spoken in a particular way he has. That blush was the first disagreeable little shock I had since our reunion. I wished that I could stop blushing for nothing at all as I had done a thousand times since my marriage. Bob certainly had an unfortunate influence upon me. I was glad to hear Spence speak again.

"You cannot prove anything about spiritualism by anything in hypnotism. Without a doubt, mediums employ hypnotism to receive individuals as well as crowds. Of course we all admit that hypnotism exists as a fact. The word is from the Greek. It means 'sleep.' The practice was known to ancient conjurers. It is employed today by reliable physicians in curing hysteria, sometimes in working moral reform, in nervous diseases—"

"Like shell-shock," interrupted Bob.
 "It hasn't a thing to do with the truth or falsity of spiritualism," Spence continued. "People think it has because an individual in a hypnotic sleep reacts easily to the power of suggestion. Dame Camilla put Miss Lorimer to sleep and kept her asleep in a manner truly scientific. I guess witches have been burned at the stake just because they possessed similar power."

"Donna Camilla said that Chrys' soul had left her body and it would get lost if Chrys was awakened before her soul came back," I said, just to make Spence talk a little longer on the subject.

"That is an ancient belief and a primitive one. Today, certain natives of Australia believe that when they are asleep their 'other selves' visit strange places and that they often talk with the dead. Plainly, that is a savage's interpretation of a dream."

"And so we go round and round in a circle. Hypnotism is not a manifestation of the occult, neither is a dream," said Chrys. "But lots of persons confuse both with spiritualism. If the latter could be only separated and he made to stand alone, perhaps you cynics would grow tolerant," she remarked a bit crossly.

Later in the day when Bob and I were alone together, I said:

"Chrys is so mystical and such a firm believer in spiritualism. Jordan Spence is so opposed to it. What kind of a marriage will theirs turn out to be, do you think?"
 Bob whistled but did not reply.

THE POPULARITY OF PANCHITO VILLA

Francisco Villa as the Robin Hood of Mexico was made an engaging character by Henry H. Knox, an American mining engineer, when he testified before the Senate sub-committee investigating conditions in Mexico in Washington the other day. At the same time Mr. Knox did not intend to glorify the inimitable Panchito. He is a guerrilla, a despoiler, and a "bad man" from any point of view, and he cannot be held up to the admiration of the rising generation even in Mexico. Mr. Knox spoke from twenty years of observation in Mexico. "Wherever Villa gains control of an area," the witness said, "he represses all looting, robbery, and drunkenness. His first act is to close the saloons." It was known before that Villa disapproved of the use of liquor by others when there was work to be done and discipline to be maintained, and that he indulged lightly himself at such times. He should not have the credit of being a total abstainer and an enemy of drink.

Mr. Knox went on to say that "no one else is allowed to rob but Villa." It is well known that he paid his men out of the proceeds—he is farcical about that, for such treatment keeps his force together. Perhaps he shares what remains with his lieutenants, keeping, of course, the lion's share for himself. Villa's system, which is imposed only on those "able to pay," has a "certain finality," said Mr. Knox, and the victims like it better than the continuous performances by Carranzistas who never get enough and are always taking. The people fighting for Villa naturally prefer service with Panchito. He plunders only the rich, says his men well, is a devil of a fellow himself, has a charmed life, and is the soul of good humor when everything is going well.—New York Times.

KING OF ETIQUETTE

London.—If you want to know which knife to eat your peas with or how to eat melon without wetting your ears, consult Mr. M. Knightsmith of Hammersmith.

Knightsmith looks after London's manners. He is the Master of Ceremonies, the Royal Toastmaster, and his knowledge of little points of etiquette is a marvel to mankind. Even kings have come under his disciplinary rules.

His mission in life is to guard the unwritten laws of ceremony at functions where great men gather. With his wand of office and scarlet coat, he has preceded along the purple carpet of monarchial routes no fewer than six kings, and he has done duty as toastmaster in the presence of our sovereign and peers (not to mention those who were in the world).

To hear yourself announced by Knightsmith is to make you throw your chest out, and lose that wobbling at the knees realizing that in the eyes of this splendid personage at least all men are equal.

"Looking back on my 25 years' experience of duty at royal, civic, and society functions, I consider that—with the exception of royal banquets—the dinner of the old city companies of London are the most dignified and well-ordered ceremonies of the kind in this country."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuesday, March 19, 1895.

The price of tea dropped from 15 cents to 12½ cents a hundred.
 The D. W. Dean company opened a creamery at Kaukauna.
 Mrs. L. F. Kutler and daughter Kittie left for Beaver Dam on a visit.

L. H. Waldo arrived home from Madison and was confined to his home by illness.

Mrs. M. M. Valentine returned from Marinette, where she was called by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Jones.

Lieut. Luke Golden of the Chicago police arrived in the city for a visit with his mother and sisters.

Assistant Chief Al Anderson of the fire department, who fractured a rib at a fire two weeks previous, returned to work.

J. C. Armstrong returned from a trip in the interest of the Appleton Pulp and Paper company. He reported an improved demand for paper, but at low prices.

C. W. Howard, Henry Sherry and F. A. Leavens of Neenah purchased a waterpower at Park Falls, where they expected to erect a paper mill. The Riverside Cemetery association decided to construct two new green houses each 20 by 108 feet in dimensions.

T. W. Orbison stated that the water in Fox river was lower the day previous than he had ever known it to be before. The production of paper was seriously curtailed.

City Treasurer Kutler made his return of delinquent taxes, $9,000, to the county treasurer.

Curtis Reed, postmaster at Menasha, and one of the oldest inhabitants in this part of the state, died the previous night soon after retiring.

CINEMA SKETCHES

 For stateliness and placid calm.
 One has to give to her the palm,
 Her dignity and cool repose
 Is studied. Why? She only knows.
 Her oval face is smooth and odd,
 As tranquil as a Chinese god.

Alvin C. G.
 We heard a remark on the street the other day that sounded like this: "If I'd known I could have rode I would have went. Well, it's a right with me, fer if I had a went I couldn't have el nothin'."

She wore flapping overshoes, too, and got off near the high school. Come to think of it, that was the best place for her to get off. They can be cured there of quick lunch English.

THE HOIN OF PLENTY

There is plenty of sugar in Cuba, they say,
 There is plenty of coal in the earth stored away,
 There is plenty of butter, tho' terribly high,
 And plenty of eggs to make pumpkin pie,
 And plenty of meat, beef, bacon and ham—
 There are plenty of stars 'way up in the sky.
 But nary a ladder to get them have I!

"Them Was the Happy Days"

"The First Piece I Ever Spoke"

When a child between five and six years old I was to speak a little piece in the village church. My mother dressed me prettily and bought me a new pair of shoes. The walk from our home to the church was a muddy one, as it had stormed that day and my arctics were old and of course muddy, mother told me to have the Sunday school teacher take them off and put them under the seat, but I forgot. When it came time for me to speak the minister lifted me upon the platform—it was an old fashioned high one and I spoke the following piece in a loud voice:

"When first I spoke upon the stage My little heart went pit-a-pat"

"For fear the people all would say 'What little dunces is that.'"

Every one laughed and thought it very cute, but you can imagine how surprised and ashamed my mother was sitting about half way back, to see my old muddy arctics covering my new shoes. Those were the good old days: I have recited many a piece and read many a paper since, but not one has ever been quite as important as that first little piece.

Sadie J. Hilton.

Poverty these days is no disgrace; it merely indicates that you were not entangled with a war baby stock and are not profiteering.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsoifed coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few cents will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, shiny, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

The Moron Woman—II.

I think there must be something lacking in the man who falls for the animated doll type of young woman, the pretty goddess, the blooming spring flower, with her defective equipment of gray matter, the moron woman. Love, he imagines, impels him to marry his dainty, innocent, baby-face, sweet little girl. He will realize, when it is too late, that love is a hallucination of the mind. Sensuality alone drives him into his bad bargain. The man lacks judgment, self-control. He is probably something of a philanderer. It is notorious that the predatory male, the rake, the unprincipled animal, prefers undeveloped buds; he seeks vaguely for a victim beneath his own mental plane—for he is a little ashamed of his conduct, after all. Some such motive is concerned in the foolishness which the hare-brained young man calls "falling in love" with one of these salamanders. Well do our pandering theatrical and film managers know their psychology. They serve up the blooming young female morons as their choicest bids for the patronage of the degenerate manhood of the country. Not only that, they flaunt every possible appeal to sensuality on the public billboards, and no one seems to care a little wee damn for the moral effect, the immoral effect, such suggestions must have on children everywhere.

Assume that a high grade man marries a butterfly girl, a moron, under the spell of sensual infatuation. Right there heredity enters the problem. The man has ambitions to succeed in the world; he hopes to make his mark in his vocation, whatever it may be. In a few years his butterfly wife becomes a handicap rather than a helpmeet; she hasn't brains, she is insipid, shallow, a drag on his career.

If children come, they are likely to inherit the mother's defect. The children turn out badly. Something lacking. They shirk duty. They are disobedient. They betray various little moral deficiencies. If they manage to worry along in school somehow until adolescence or early adult age, they are likely to commit some erratic offense, bringing shame to their parents.

ANSWER—By all means, yes, little lady. I honestly think such lessons will help as much in your education as physical geography or Caesar's most atrocious commentaries will.

ANSWER—Some individuals gain considerable weight while taking yeast.

Juniors Should Swim.

I am a junior high school girl eleven years old. Would you advise me to take swimming lessons this time of year? (B. L. C.)

ANSWER—By all means, yes, little lady. I honestly think such lessons will help as much in your education as physical geography or Caesar's most atrocious commentaries will.

Girls, 1880 Style.

Is it all right for girls to skate, play basket ball and do all kinds of circus stunts in a gymnasium? You know they sometimes have pretty hard falls, and I always thought it was unwise for girls to do such things. (Mrs. S. M. C.)

ANSWER—It is not only all right, but it is all wrong if they don't have such opportunities. The sickly, fainting, hysterical, tonic-taking, don't-get-your-feet-wet type of girl is as extinct as the celebrated dodo.

Ebert Refuses to Negotiate with the New Regime

A new cabinet of "experts," that now elections for the reichstag should be held and that a new president should be elected by the people instead of the reichstag.

The French foreign office put considerable faith in the compromise report.

Earlier Berlin dispatches had said that a rapprochement, would be likely.

The foreign office looked upon the compromise largely as a victory for the revolutionists, pointing out that through its terms as reported, the von Kapp forces gain most of the points they had announced themselves as favoring.

Ebert, the foreign office pointed out, was reported in the Berlin dispatch to have conceded the demand for popular election of the president, dissolution of the assembly and formation of a cabinet of specialists.

The German delegations in Paris had no confirmation of the dispatch reporting the compromise but said it had received the report from other sources.

French officials saw a strong possibility that Field Marshal von Hindenburg may become president if the report that Ebert has agreed to call a new popular presidential election is true. Officials in the foreign office believed his election is certain if he should become a candidate.

They said they believed this was the reason Ebert has consistently opposed a popular election of a president.

"Piangi, Fanciulla" (Weep, My Child) is based on one of the saddest situations ever conceived, yet the music is the most lyrically beautiful Verdi ever wrote. This is truly an extraordinary record. Victor Red Seal Record, 87567

Spring Exposition

BEGINNING WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17th

And Continuing Thursday, Friday and Saturday

You are invited to be present at this Fashion Display

Because of the prestige attained in matters pertaining to apparel, our patrons know that the modes launched here are absolutely authentic.

Our Spring collection of styles only serves to strengthen this confidence in our ability to show the newest and best first, in a most gratifying variety. The Coats, Suits, Frocks, Waists, Millinery and other articles of small attire, we now present, represent the choicest pieces in their individual lines. They are novel, different and uncommonly attractive. The woman who assembles her new wardrobe with the aid of this display is assured of getting the utmost in quality and style distinction at a moderate price.

READY TO WEAR OF RARE APPEAL

NEW COATS

Fashion's Favorite Coats are well represented in this special display of Spring models. Here you may see Coats in three-quarter or full length styles, as well as dozens of smart short coats. Fabrics range from the rough tweeds for utility wear to the fine Tinseltone, Silvertone, Bolivia, Tricotine, etc. Distended pockets, belts, embroideries, and self cordings are effectively used as trimmings.

Those who make selection here will have the advantage of unusual variety in styling and choice of all the wanted colorings for Spring.

NEW SUITS

Make your selection now when the assortment of sizes and styles is at its best.

There's a youthful line about the many ripple effects which are featured in the suit models for Spring. The severely tailored suit with its braid or embroidery trimming, in blue serge or tricotine, never fails to take the lead. The silk girdles, snug sleeves, braid and embroidery trimmings are used in a host of other popular fabrics, which are offered at very interesting prices.

NEW FROCKS

The Opening Display of Dresses offers such a variety of styles that it is an easy task to select a becoming garment. Long lines, straight lines, short lines, draped and clinging types—in other words a model to suit each and every figure. The popular materials this season are Taffeta, Georgette, (plain and printed) Tricolette, Foulards, Charmeuse and Satin. Certainly even the most extravagant fancy could not wish for a more interesting choice.

Spring Blouses and Skirts

The Spring Exhibition of Blouses includes many models fashioned from batiste, nainsook, fine voiles and French Organdy which bear charming touches of individuality. In Georgette and Crepe de Chine smart overblouses have been developed. Gay embroidery, heading and applied designs adorn them, making a very smart costume when combined with a skirt of satin.

In Separate Skirts slender lines prevail, although entire plaited skirts or panels of plaitings give added width in many models. The plaid skirt is very popular for general wear.

Spring Millinery

The Vogue in Hats is so varied this season that it would be a difficult task to choose had it not been our good fortune to secure so many different shapes and trimmed hats that you will soon see no two hats even resemble each other. Many enchanting modes turn abruptly up from the face; exactly to the contrary other straw hats almost conceal their wearer's eyes with trimming fabrics. You will see many short brimmed sailors and gay colored turbans to brighten up one's street frocks. Hats of Sipper Straw in popular sailor shapes are very new.

New Fabrics

Colorful and of Fine Texture

The many weaves, old, new and novel combine to make this display the best we have ever featured. The varied assortment of silks suggest countless ways of fashioning individual apparel. Conveniently near are the soft beautifully textured woolsens. Wash Fabrics, too, contribute their share of attractive patterns in materials of serviceable quality.

New Neckwear

You will like the new Tab Collars of lace, organdy and georgette suitable for round or square neck garments. The Spring Display also includes organdy collars embroidered with colored yarn; Venice and Fillet Collars for Spring Suits; Princess Lace Collars; also Ruffings, Pleatings and Vestings by the yard.

New Veils and Veilings

It's wonderful how much more becoming any hat is when it is draped with a fetching new Veil. Here are scores of Veils in unique fancy meshes and very decorative in their scroll embroidery designs.

Ribbons

Summer Frocks as well as lingerie demand much of ribbons. For sashes, bags and millinery purposes the collection in silk, satin and violet is wide. Metallic embroidered and richly brocaded ribbons are gorgeous in colorings and texture.

The New Hosiery

This display is noteworthy from a standpoint of variety as well as quality, for it includes every type of Hosiery you could possibly desire from sheer, fine silk styles with lace inserts or handsome embroideries to the Hosiery of Lisle.

Gloves

are Very Important

One or two pair of gloves hardly serves all purposes. To be really fashionable one must have short, long and mosquetane or slipper styles. The Spring assortment includes all styles in silk, fine kid and suede.

Hand Bags

Will be Much in Evidence

The new Kodak Bag has made great inroads in our stock, but the Canteen and Moire Bags are still to be seen in large numbers. The Patent Leather Purse with the top strap is new and very practical. Leather purses in the new novelty designs are very attractive. All colors in this display.

Children's Spring Apparel

You must not forget the children this Spring; and a visit to our Children's Section on first floor will convince you that we have taken especial pains to remember them. The Children's Hats, Coats and Dresses are just a little different this season and are pleasingly priced.

INJURED EMPLOYEES PAID $2,000,000 IN 12 MONTH PERIOD

NUMBER OF CASES AND AMOUNT OF DAMAGES UNDER COM-PENSATION LAW SHOWS
AN INCREASE

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—The total benefits under the workmen's compensation act during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919 were $2,191,312, as shown by the eighth annual report on workmen's compensation in Wisconsin which was issued today by the Industrial Commission. This figure does not include the medical aid in cases in which the disability was less than 7 days, which is estimated to have been at least $150,000 more. Of the total benefits $1,683,010 was paid as indemnity and $508,302 as medical aid.

During this year 16,471 cases were settled under the workmen's compensation act, an increase of 4 per cent in the number of cases settled. Benefits under the compensation act increased by 4 per cent but by 29 per cent. The average benefits per case increased from $110 to $133.

This increase in benefits was confined entirely to the 10 per cent of the cases settled which involved death or permanent disability. This 10 per cent of the cases settled was responsible for 75 per cent of the total cost under the compensation act. In death cases, the average benefits increased from $2,043 to $2,260, and in cases involving some permanent disability, the average benefits increased from $254 to $599.

The cases in which there was tem-days the calf weighed 900 pounds and David refused to sell at $1,000. During this time he had won $83 in prizes. The cost of feed and labor was $55.59, which, with the initial cost, made David's expenses $180.29, giving him a net profit of $903.41.

This is far above the average. There are many equally bright boys and girls in this club who are not so fortunate as to own a good calf. The records of some of the other club members are: Oscar Berkseth, Glenwood, made $261 from an acre of Wisconsin No. 9 corn; Kenneth Stevenson, Dane, who is but 12, made in one year $475 from his sheep; Theresabell Welch, Stockton, made a profit of $144.68 from her canning, and Raymond Muskatvitch, Shawano, raised a $450 potato crop on one acre, his potatoes netting him $393.90.

GREAT TIMBER TRACT IN NORTH CHANGES HANDS

Florence.—One of the largest timber and land deals ever made in the north was closed on Thursday of last week when the Von Platen Lumber Co. of Iron Mountain purchased 173,000 acres of land from the Ayer estate of Boston. The tract contains 110,000 acres of timber land and 63,000 in cutover land. The deal involved $2,500,000. The land is situated in Iron, Gogebic, Ontonagon and Houghton counties.

The deal was promoted and made by E. E. Small of Florence, who worked on the project for many months. It was through Mr. Small that the Von Platen company removed to the northern peninsula from the southern part of the state eight years ago.

The Von Platen company will reserve 40,000 acres of the timber and will cut the timber and ship it to Iron Mountain. The balance will be placed on the market.

The purchase of this tract means that a chemical plant will be built soon in Iron Mountain, and that eventually a large furnace will be built.

GREEN BAY FAIR WILL BE GREATLY ENLARGED

Green Bay.—An appropriation of $10,000 which was made by the Brown county board of supervisors to the Brown County Fair association, is the limit of money which the board may donate to the fair under the state law.

The fair is to be enlarged to a district fair this year, and will be called the Northeastern Wisconsin fair. Exhibitors in counties throughout the northern and eastern part of the state will be invited to the exhibit.

The fair grounds, which are five miles from the city, will be improved by the erection of stock barns, new horse barns, and by the construction of an addition to the grandstand, and the installation of a water and sewerage system.

Increased Cost of Shelter
With reference to the increased cost of shelter in this country, as between July, 1914, and July, 1919, the National Industrial Conference Board in its recent Research Report number states that as a broad average, the rent increase, taking population distribution into account, would be somewhat below 30 per cent. Reports from 153 cities of varying sizes are the foundation of the report. In twenty-eight cities the increase for the five-year period falls between 31 per cent and 40 per cent, and in eleven cities between 41 per cent and 50 per cent. Local conditions play a large part in the changes of the cost of shelter, percentages varying not only in different cities but in different districts and classes of houses in the same city.

porary disability only accounted for 90 per cent of all cases settled, but for only 25 per cent of the total benefits. In this class of cases, the average benefits were $52, as against $53 in the previous year. In these cases in which there was temporary disability only, the medical aid was very nearly equal to the indemnity paid. In the cases involving permanent disability, on the other hand, the medical aid amounted to only 13 per cent of the total benefits.

During the eight years that the Workmen's Compensation Act has been in force, injured workmen have collected $10,000,000 in Wisconsin. There are no complete statistics of the amounts which injured workmen were able to collect before the compensation act became effective, but the total was certainly less than one-fourth as much as under the compensation act. Under the old system, only one out of eight injured workmen received any compensation at all, and of the amounts collected, court costs and attorney's fees took nearly one-half. In some cases, the injured workmen collected very much more than they can now obtain under the compensation act, but the great majority of the injured men got nothing. Under the compensation law, the amounts which injured workmen may draw are limited, but any person who is injured while performing services growing out of or incidental to his employment is entitled to a compensation. There are no court costs at all, and attorney's fees are limited to 10 per cent of the amounts collected, and not more than $100 in any case, without special order of the Industrial Commission.

LIVELY CITY ELECTION FIGHT AT STEVENS POINT

Stevens Point.—With two candidates for mayor prepared to wage a hot fight and with other contests assured, the municipal election Apr. 6, promises excitement. For mayor, the voters will choose between John N. Welby, the incumbent, and James Mainland; Mr. Welby was elected in December to fill out an unexpired term. Another contest is for controller, George L. Rogers, candidate for re-election, is opposed by A. J. Cunniff. For treasurer, John Haka, the incumbent, is alone in the field.

BIG WELFARE PLANS FOR GREEN BAY BOYS

Green Bay.—Green Bay fraternal and civic organizations propose to expend $5,000 in behalf of the boys of the city during this year. Committees from the Association of Commerce, the Elks' lodge, the Moose lodge, the American legion, the Rotary club, the Kiwanis club, Knights of Columbus are interested in the movement for the welfare of the city's youths.

The work for boys will be done under direction of a resident, full time scout master, of the Boy Scouts of America. A Boy Scout council, with a membership of 1,000 boys, will be organized in a short time.

Athletic activities will be foremost in the program of the movement.

Tests have been completed on new type of airplane engine, which will be silent, and from which the danger of fire in the air has been removed.

BOY MADE $900 ON CALF IN LESS THAN 6 MONTHS

Sheboygan.—David Joslin, 16, Plymouth, member of the Boys' and Girls' club, figures that he has made a profit of $900 in 175 days on his bull calf. The calf, a purebred Holstein, weighed 295 pounds when he bought it for $125. At the end of 175 days the calf weighed 900 pounds and David refused to sell at $1,000. During this time he had won $83 in prizes. The cost of feed and labor was $55.59, which, with the initial cost, made David's expenses $180.29, giving him a net profit of $903.41.

This is far above the average. There are many equally bright boys and girls in this club who are not so fortunate as to own a good calf. The records of some of the other club members are: Oscar Berkseth, Glenwood, made $261 from an acre of Wisconsin No. 9 corn; Kenneth Stevenson, Dane, who is but 12, made in one year $475 from his sheep; Theresabell Welch, Stockton, made a profit of $144.68 from her canning, and Raymond Muskatvitch, Shawano, raised a $450 potato crop on one acre, his potatoes netting him $393.90.

Wausau—Work has been commenced on the big dam to be built across the river in this city by the Wisconsin Valley Electric Co. The basement for the power house is being blasted out of the river bed in almost solid granite. The work is protected by a double cofferdam. The building of the dam and power house will occupy two years.

Madison—Microscopic life in the lakes of Europe will be compared with that of Wisconsin lakes in a study to be made by Prof. Gilbert M. Smith, department of botany, University of Wisconsin, who left recently for Europe on a semester's leave of absence.

He will conduct his study in the collections of Birmingham university, England, the British museum, the Museum of Natural History of Paris.

State supervisor, G. H. Drawing, visited the school last Monday, Mar. 8. His report as to the work of the permanent teachers was favorable.

Florence.—One of the largest timber and land deals ever made in the north was closed on Thursday of last week when the Von Platen Lumber Co. of Iron Mountain purchased 173,000 acres of land from the Ayer estate of Boston. The tract contains 110,000 acres of timber land and 63,000 in cutover land. The deal involved $2,500,000. The land is situated in Iron, Gogebic, Ontonagon and Houghton counties.

The deal was promoted and made by E. E. Small of Florence, who worked on the project for many months. It was through Mr. Small that the Von Platen company removed to the northern peninsula from the southern part of the state eight years ago.

The Von Platen company will reserve 40,000 acres of the timber and will cut the timber and ship it to Iron Mountain. The balance will be placed on the market.

The purchase of this tract means that a chemical plant will be built soon in Iron Mountain, and that eventually a large furnace will be built.

Hortonville—Marcella Haller entertained the G. H. G. S. Girls' club at a costume party last Friday evening. Refreshments were served. Miss Haller was assisted in her grandmother's wedding gown.

MARRIAGE WRECKS BARK OF LOVE

Seattle.—It was only the trifles of Warrant Boatswain R. L. Cornell's marriage that wrecked the bark of love that he and Vae Lee launched here. The two were traced to Los Angeles. They traveled on Vae's money
—$1,700 of it. "I can't love him anymore," says Vae. "I don't want to love him any more," declares Mrs.
Cornell, so here in the county jail the sailor averred "it isn't worth-while."

SPRING THAWS RAISE LEVEL OF THE RIVER

Fox River is beginning to show the effects of the thaw of the last few days. Yesterday the flow of water had increased to such an extent that it was necessary to remove an extra covered with a foot or more of water. The water in Lake Winnebago which has been quite low for some time is beginning to rise and will soon be up to its former level.

WANTED TO FIGHT

Stories From Europe Housed Men of Far North, Says Explorer
Among the most restless and unwilling stay-at-homes during the war were the Eskimos living on the Arctic Coast of Alaska.
The eagerness of the male members of the Eskimo tribes to get into the fighting after they heard the United States had declared war on Germany is one of the most interesting tales brought back from Alaska by William H. Van Valin, leader of the John Wanamaker Alaskan expedition, who has just returned to Philadelphia after an extended sojourn in the north.
The Eskimos listened with horror to the accounts of German atrocities and the sinking of defenseless ships by submarines. Mr.
Van Valin says. They grew so angry that the white men in the section were obliged to use all their powers of persuasion to convince them that their higher duty was to remain at home and attend to their families.

News of the armistice did not reach the Arctic coast until last September, and then, according to the explorer, there took place one of the most picturesque victory celebrations in the world. The natives lit fires, dressed in fancy skins, took their war weapons and

Plenty of Air at Home
We must tell this story on a Mulvane man before the prohibition law renders it utterly obsolete. He was visiting in a big city in company with a friend and was knocked down on a crowded street by a runaway horse and rendered unconscious. The friend bent over him and they were instantly surrounded by a crowd. The friend yelled at the crowd. "Stand back and give him air, and someone hurry with some whisky." At this the injured man spoke up in a weak voice. "Never mind the air."

BOOKS FORGOTTEN AS GRADE SCHOOL TOURNAMENT OPENS

SECOND DISTRICT BASKETBALL TEAMS TEST SKILL AND SPEED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

'Readin', writin', and 'rithmetic were thrown into the discard at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the second school district. A championship basketball tournament was to open, and lessons were just naturally forgotten in the excitement. Pupils from the Columbus, Lincoln and Franklin schools flocked to the Columbus gymnasium by hundreds to watch the opening games. They had their banners, badges and streamers, each with his class colors, and the cheering was organized under leaders.

When the captains drew lots in the morning to determine which teams would oppose each other, it was decided to withdraw the seventh grade five of the Lincoln school, due to the fact that this team is too strong for any of the other teams entered.

The first game between the Lincoln sixth and Columbus seventh brought an overwhelming victory for the latter. The score was 21 to 5. Gordon Ratzman made the most counters for Lincoln. Orville Muenster and John Fumal starred for Columbus.

In the second game between Lincoln eighth grade south and Franklin sixth, the latter team was handicapped both as to weight and age, but stuck grimly to the finish and took their licking like little men. The final score was 42 to 3.

The Lincoln north eighth and Franklin seventh and eighth game that followed was the closest and most exciting game of all. The final score of the hard fought tussle was 12 to 9 in favor of Lincoln. Lawrence Reinke, Carl Thompson and Kenneth Smith made many spectacular plays for Lincoln, and Edwin Wilton, star center for Franklin did wonderful work, but luck seemed against him.

Three judges were selected from the high school faculty. Professors White, Glen Pelton and Harry Cameron, to award the good sportsmanship pennant, which goes to the team having the cleanest playing record throughout the tournament.

Two games will be played Wednesday afternoon in which the winners of Monday's contests, Columbus seventh, Lincoln north eighth and Lincoln south eighth, will play, in addition to Lincoln seventh. The captains will draw lots Wednesday morning to decide their opponents.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS FOR INSURED VETERANS

Included with insurance notices from the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, ex-service men are receiving an identification card which bears the name and address of the insured, and the certificate number for ready reference. This card makes notification of the department easy in case of sickness or accident, but some of the men receiving them do not seem to understand their purpose. The bureau has had a number of them returned filled out. The intention of the department is to have the ex-service men retain them for their own use.

FINDS PROFIT IN NEW SELLING IDEA

OPERATOR OF ARMY GOODS
STORE FINDS HUGE SUCCESS POSSIBLE IN OMITTING THE "TRIMMINGS"

By James Henle
(Special to Post-Crescent)
Philadelphia, Pa.—Folks are paying high prices for commodities because they are not buying the commodities themselves. They are just buying the "trimmings."

That is the doctrine of Fred P. Bell, who is operating what he calls a 10 per cent store. He tries to sell commodities with the trimmings omitted at 10 per cent profit.

Perhaps Bell has a sense of humor, for one of the first things he did was to sell several thousand baskets to his patrons.

Starting under the auspices of the Philadelphia Market Commission merely to sell army foodstuffs, the concern branched out into a score of different lines and today handles meat, groceries, shoes, hardware, white goods and many other articles.

Bell, when he began to sell army goods, was forced, under government rules, to limit himself to 10 per cent profit. To handle these goods he opened the eighteenth of his stores. The success he met made him wonder whether other commodities could not be profitably sold on a 10 per cent margin of profit. He decided to take the chance and his store has prospered beyond expectation.

Now Bell is wondering whether he could put his seventeen other stores on the same basis.

In a 10 per cent store the accessories that go with the ordinary retail store are missing. Goods are placed on either side of a runway, similar to the way some chain-stores do business and customers help themselves, paying a cashier as they leave.

On a recent Saturday Bell's store sold 90 cases of evaporated milk, four dozen cans to the case. This is as many as the average store sells in six months. The price was 10 cents a can. Competitors were charging 12 cents.

On that same Saturday 4700 persons made purchases and a business of $6400 was the result. The average weekly receipts of the store are from $16,000 to $20,000. The ordinary grocery in that neighborhood is likely to do a business of $700 and $800.

"This is a cold-blooded business proposition," says Bell. "We are making real money out of this store because we are giving real value. My competitors are doing the best they can under the burdens which our unbusinesslike business system puts upon them."

Bell pays cash and purchases in large quantities. He sells for cash and has the money to put back into more stock.

"No one knows what our present delivery system costs customers," he says. "One groceryman decided to study this situation. A careful analysis of his books revealed that it cost him exactly 11 1/2 cents to make each delivery. The grocer has to make his living and the consumer pays this cost in the end."

When summer comes a new venture will be started by the 10 per cent store. A farmer's market is to be established at its curb where vegetables and fruits will be sold direct to consumers.

Statistics on the election of mayors in Wisconsin cities were recently compiled by the Municipal Information Bureau of the University of Wisconsin Extension division.

The 22 holding elections in the odd years are Ashland, Berlin, Boscobel, Columbus, Crandon, Fond du Lac, Haywood, Horicon, Janesville, Kaukauna, La Crosse, Ladysmith, Lake Mills, Manitowoc, Mellen, Park Falls, Racine, Reesville, Sheboygan, Two Rivers, Waupun and Whitewater.

The ten Badger cities which have the commission form of government are Antigo, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Ladysmith, Menomonie, Oshkosh, Port Washington, Rice Lake, and Superior. Two cities, Amery and Fennimore, were incorporated last fall, bringing the total to 133 cities.

Yellow Mustard for Sore Throat, Tonsillitis

Old fashioned remedies are often the best. Yellow Mustard, in the form of plaster or poultice, has been used for generations for soreness, inflammation, congestions and swellings with most excellent results but—it blistered.

Heat eases pain and Begg's Mustardine made of pure yellow mustard, together with other pain relieving ingredients is just as hot, but quicker, cleaner, and more effective and cannot blister.

When your throat is sore, when you have pleurisy, bronchitis or a pain-shooting chest cold you can get speedy and lasting relief with this most effective preparation because heat eases pain—30 and 60 cents at druggists or by mail, S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

RACINE MAN IS SHOT AS RESULT OF QUARREL

Racine.—With a bullet hole in his left lung, and another through his liver, Tom Mathoneas is hovering between life and death at St. Mary's hospital.

Mathoneas, it is charged, was shot by James Pestras, partner in a saloon and coffee house, Saturday morning, following the appearance of the two in the Municipal court. Mathoneas having had Pestras arrested for using abusive language and threatening to kill him because of refusal to pay $1,200 due for money placed in the business.

No attempt was made to search Pestras when he appeared in court. Mathoneas was shot five times, the three other bullets striking him in the left arm.

STATE OFFICER DESCRIBES PASSING OF WILD PIGEON

(Special to Post-Crescent.)

Madison, Wis.—The passing of the passenger or wild pigeon, a twentieth century tragedy, is made the basis of an interesting display in the anniversary number of The Wisconsin Conservationist, soon to be issued by the Conservation Commission. A multi-colored cut of three stuffed specimens of this extinct species, outlined in a black border and accompanied by a memorial statement, forms the cover design. W. E. Barber, chairman of the commission, tells the complete story of the extermination of the birds from the time when the vast flocks blackened the whole sky and millions of them passed in single conveyances, to the death of the last living passenger pigeon in the Cincinnati Zoological garden, Sept. 1, 1914.

WATER BACKS UP INTO HOSPITAL BASEMENT

FIRE DEPARTMENT APPARATUS ASSISTS IN RELIEVING THE FLOOD CONDITION IN FOURTH WARD

The Fourth ward experienced a miniature flood yesterday as a result of the heavy weather. Torrents of water were rushing into Calumet street from the roads. Near the intersection of Calumet and Lake streets water was standing in the street to a depth of nearly a foot. Someone conveyed the idea of removing a manhole cover at this point to give quick relief, but the act had more of an effect than was expected. The sewer capacity proved inadequate for the sudden rush of water that followed and it started to "back up" into the basements of the nearby buildings. The condition was especially serious at St. Elizabeth hospital, where the basement was flooded with six inches of water and more rushing in. Relief was given by the fire department, which rushed a motor pump to the scene and kept the basement from flooding further.

CHAMPION COW OF THE WORLD OWNED BY APPLETON MAN

SADIE GERBEN HENGERVELD DE KOL, OWNED BY R. M. HARRIMAN, SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

Appleton has a cow that not only surpasses all records for milk production in Wisconsin, but in a 30 day test has shattered national records as well. The winning animal is the Holstein Sadie Gerben Hengerfeld DeKol (203588) owned by R. M. Harriman, secretary of the Wisconsin Live Stock association.

Recently Mr. Harriman announced the results of a seven day test in which the proud Miss Sadie produced 117.5 pounds of milk in one day, or better than quarts, 7821 pounds in a week, or 40.07 pounds of butter. The strenuous tests were continued for a thirty day period, with the result that 3,247.5 pounds of milk and 157.54 pounds of butter were produced, an average of 108.2 pounds of milk a day. This, Mr. Harriman holds is the best record ever made by any of the two million cows in Wisconsin, or 28 million in the United States, under like strenuous tests. The cow has been in milk for 50 days and has averaged well over 100 pounds every day since.

Because of the striking record that the cow was making, the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin has had five supervisors on the job day and night making official tests. Samples of her feed were also sent to Madison for examination to prove that there was nothing more than ordinary feed used to produce the amazing milk record. To further substantiate the boast that Wisconsin has the best producing cow in the country, Prof. Carver of the University of Illinois was called in to witness the tests. Under the disturbing influence of constant visitation day and night, and with the tests being made, the champion producer never wavered, but made good her record as the best Holstein cow in the nation.

The cow is of royal breeding and comes by her producing ability through inheriting the blood which flowed in the veins of her illustrious ancestors, two of which have broken the world's record for both milk and butter.

Breeders and publishers of the agricultural journals of the country are taking intense interest in the tests.

Telegrams and letters are being received asking for information about the tests, about the cow and about her record. Congratulations from the leading cattle men of the country are also being received. With the stamp of approval of two great universities and the national fame enjoyed by Madame DeKol, the cow and her progeny are placed among the most valuable of the Holstein breed.

Fame of Outagamie county as a dairying community, no doubt, will be greatly enhanced as this remarkable cow's record becomes more widely known.

Famous Reader Will Be Heard Here On Friday

Katherine Ridgeway, acknowledged to be the best known reader in her particular line in the United States, will be the attraction at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening as the eighth number of the Appleton Community Lecture and Artists' course. The ticket sale will open at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday morning. Miss Ridgeway seldom appears except on the largest courses in America and on some of these courses she has appeared five to eight times.

Katherine Ridgeway is a native of Atlanta, Ga., but most of her childhood was spent in the far Northwest. While a student she heard Nella Brown Pond read. Previous to that time Miss Ridgeway had not thought of public reading as a profession, but such was the influence of Mrs. Pond's art and personality upon the young student that after the recital Miss Ridgeway announced to her friends that she would become a reader. As soon as she finished her course at the university she went to Boston, and after two years' study at the Boston School of Oratory and with Miss Emma Greeley, founder of the Greeley School of Dramatic Art, she was engaged by the Redpath Bureau as reader with the Temple Quartette. She was with this well known quartette for two years.

Miss Ridgeway gives an evening of varied readings instead of an entire program of a single play or story.

Well Situated
We have in the United States between a third and a half of all the wealth of the world. We have more than a third of all the gold; the banks have on deposit something like $15,000,000,000 or $16,000,000,000 or $17,000,000,000 in money; the circulation per capita in this country is about $56; our production from the ground during the last year, as I remember, was in value nearly $20,000,000,000; we are a creditor nation, holding the notes or securities of foreign countries, perfectly solvent, amounting to nearly $10,000,000,000; we have the best country, the largest resources, the best climate and I may say pretty nearly, as good brains. And in the competition with other countries we can take care of ourselves.—C. H. Gary in Forbes Magazine.

Seeks a Fungus Killer

With little relief in sight for the users of print paper various steps are being taken to increase the supply and to conserve the present available sources of supply. In this connection experiments are being conducted by Dr. Kress, head of the forest products laboratory, Madison, Wis., for the purpose of learning how to prevent an infection that causes a loss estimated at more than $5,000,000 annually in the wood pulp industry.

The loss is caused by molds or fungi that attack the trees and remain in the ground and greatly damage the stored pulp by destroying the fiber. Such infected pulp clogs the machinery during the process of paper making and results in a dirty, weakened paper. It is estimated that the total loss of pulp from this cause is between 10 and 15 per cent. Dr. Kress is seeking to discover a spray that will kill the fungi, and scientists in Canada are also at work on this same problem.

In Dr. Kress' opinion some relief for the present paper situation is offered by the use of western woods and woods from southern Alaska which, he believes, could be shipped through the Panama canal and manufactured cheaply enough to compete with the New York market.

Keep The System Clean And You'll Be Healthy

Elimination helps to avoid colds, headaches and epidemics

ANYONE who has watched himself knows there is nothing so important to health and comfort as regular daily elimination. Half of the minor illnesses of life are due to neglect of this. The five million men who were in our army know the importance the doctor attached to this function.

By all means try to regulate yourself by intelligent diet and exercise, but when these fail you will need a laxative, one as new to nature in its action as skill can make it. In the opinion of many thousands of good Americans such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It acts promptly, gently and without griping and will with certainty regulate any tendency to constipation that you may have.

Take it when you feel drowsy, dizzy or bilious, when you feel a cold or a fever coming on, when there is an epidemic, when you have eaten anything about which you are in doubt. It is at such times that you need to be free of poisons and of fermenting foods. You can buy Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store. Thousands of families have it constantly in the house against emergencies.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 517 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.
